the System by Which One Woman's

"There is a society woman in Washington who publicly let it be known a few seasons ago that she desired a bandsome pair of shoulders. 'I would give anything in the world,' she said, for a handsome pair of arms and for a har houlders.

"When pressed to be specific she said that she would give $1,000. And with the bait of $1,000 the shoulder specials's went to work. They were to make her arms full and beautiful and her boulders broad and handsome. They we also to plump out her neck suffi-

"It took a long time, fully the three nonths stipulated in the contract, but at the end of that time it was done. The woman had a handsome neck and a pair of lovely arms. Her shoulders were dreams, and evening after even in; they gleamed resplendent in the white chele velled only by a little diffon. They are too handsome to be idden, said the woman proudly.
"The secret was all to be found in massage, in applications of cocoa buter, almond on, cocoding on, creams and plenty of rubbing. And there were by sless of alcohol and hot water. The each was plumped out very beautifully in that manner. To plump out a thin seek, a yellow neck and a neck that shapeless with sharp shoulders and ich shoulder blades begin with some not water. Let the skin be steamed. not do not seald it, of course. Then apply the oils and creams, alternating hem from day to day. Work steadily in the pores of the skin, for it is brough them that the neck and arms are plumped."—Marian Martineau in Commercial Tribune. Jenimercial Tribune.

Clever Way to Utilize a Superfluous Small Apartment.

On the first floor of many houses here is an unnecessary little room, alled through courtesy a den, a library or a reception room. As a matter of fact it is without purpose, and I have never yet been able to understand why in architect should add this superfluous touch, but since the room is there t must be considered fittingly furnished. This little room can well be done ed. This little room can well be done a bamboo, suggests Vogue. Procure he kind of curtains that are used on phyzzas to protect one from the sun and have the room covered in these with strips of bamboo portioning off hree foot spaces and covering the is: a si ip of bamboo is also ru at the top close to the cove of ceiling, and another finishes the matting at the bottom. High bookcases painted a deep cream stretch along the walls, and natural color wicker furniture is effective in such a room. A square ta-legging chair and a small high leftle comprise the furnishing. arse mesh curtains are dyed a brown, and brown and yellow in quaint shapes is placed on the bookcases—a box of flaming geraniums are the one touch of color in the room. On the table the latest magazines and period-The little room can thus be used restful lounging or waiting room.
